Wealth Health Skills

FREE financial education classes !

We provide all materials, including an interactive CD, volunteer instructors from local financial institutions, refreshments and even door prizes for attendance!

Are you still struggling to survive this economic slump? We can help with the Wealth Health Skills Program. We will teach your group to take control of what you do have and how you can make do with less and learn to stretch your dollars, how to get a free credit report and avoid identity theft. And the best thing about this program is that it's FREE.

Pro Action has received a grant from the United Way of the Southern Tier to offer the Wealth Health Skills program FREE in Chemung and Steuben counties to develop financial stability and money management skills.

There are several Money Smart modules to choose from. You can pick one or two modules to offer, or all ten. They can be set up anyway you like, as employee trainings, brown bag luncheons or classes for employees and clients. Modules are usually one hour or less.

To receive materials on this program please call or email Program Coordinator, Dawn Bush, to set up your free financial education sessions.
